Multiple ratings agencies upgrade Wisconsin's bond rating based on state's strong fiscal performance under Evers Administration.

MADISON — Gov. Tony Evers today announced that the state of Wisconsin's bond rating has been upgraded by multiple agencies. Kroll Bond Rating Agency upgraded its long-term rating to AAA from AA+ for General Obligation (GO) Bonds, and S&P Global Ratings raised its long-term rating to AA+ from AA. These upgraded ratings reflect the continued commitment of Gov. Evers and his administration to improve the state of Wisconsin's credit profile, including more than quadrupling the state's budget reserves in the last three years, paying down the state's debt, and paying the state's bills on time.

Today's news comes as Wisconsin has continued to see economic rebounds in recent months.
