In 4-3 ruling, justices rule current legislative maps unconstitutional, requiring new maps for 2024 election.

MADISON — Gov. Tony Evers today released the following statement regarding the Wisconsin Supreme Court’s decision in Clarke v. WEC.

“It’s clear to me that a Republican-controlled Legislature that has consistently gerrymandered itself into comfortable, partisan majorities for more than a decade is incapable of preparing fair, nonpartisan maps deserving of the people of this state. I agree with the Court’s determination that these maps are unconstitutional because the districts lack contiguity. Wisconsin is a purple state, and I look forward to submitting maps to the Court to consider and review that reflect and represent the makeup of our state.

“And I remain as optimistic as ever that, at long last, the gerrymandered maps Wisconsinites have endured for years might soon be history.”
