

Evers Declares State of Emergency for Last Week's Extreme Weather

Written by GOV Press Wisconsin

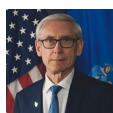

Monday, 22 July 2019 09:43 - Last Updated Tuesday, 23 July 2019 07:17

<https://newiprogressive.com/images/stories/S5/flood-wi-field-s5.jpg>

Many people in northern and central Wisconsin have been impacted by the strong storms and power outages. All state agencies to provide assistance.

MADISON - Gov. Tony Evers declared a statewide State of Emergency Sunday following widespread severe storms, torrential rains, and tornadoes that have impacted Wisconsin in recent days. Downed trees and power lines have caused major power outages in northern Wisconsin, road closures due to debris and damage to homes and businesses.

“I know many people, especially in northern and central Wisconsin have been impacted by the strong storms and power outages,” said Gov. Evers. “The first responders and utilities have been doing a great job, working non-stop since the storms hit. I want to make sure all state resources are available to help get the power back on and debris removed.”

The governor's declaration directs all state agencies to provide assistance and authorizes Maj. Gen. Don Dunbar, Wisconsin's adjutant general, to activate the National Guard to assist local authorities as needed.

Heavy rains hit the southwest region of Wisconsin overnight on July 18, 2019, causing flash

Evers Declares State of Emergency for Last Week's Extreme Weather

Written by GOV Press Wisconsin

Monday, 22 July 2019 09:43 - Last Updated Tuesday, 23 July 2019 07:17

floods. Strong storms hit mainly northern and central Wisconsin on Friday, July 19, and Saturday, July 20.

A copy of Gov. Evers' executive order #35 can be found here .