MADISON — Gov. Tony Evers today announced for the fourth consecutive year that the state's General Fund recorded a positive balance at the end of the 2022-23 fiscal year using Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP). Released today, the state's Annual Comprehensive Financial Report (ACFR) shows the state's GAAP balance increased by over 40 percent from a positive balance of $4.6 billion at the end of the 2021-22 fiscal year to a new record high of $6.7 billion at the end of the 2022-23 fiscal year.

"Wisconsin was facing a deficit when I first took office, but we've worked hard to make smart, strategic investments and stay well within our means to be in the best fiscal position we've ever been in as a state," said Gov. Evers. "This work and positive news didn't happen by accident—I'm incredibly grateful for the hard work of state workers across my administration whose efforts contribute every day to this positive news. We'll keep working in the months and years ahead to maintain our state's positive economic momentum and continue making the investments Wisconsinites need and deserve.”

Other highlights of this year's ACFR include:

- In addition to the state's increasing General Fund balance, the report also notes that the state's Transportation Fund's fund balance increased by nearly $40 million to $1.4 billion at the end of the 2022-23 fiscal year.
- Under GAAP, the state's total long-term debt decreased by over $175 million in the 2022-23 fiscal year, which indicates the state repaid existing debt in excess of new debt being issued last year.

The significant increase in the state's positive GAAP general fund balance reflects the continued improved financial position of the state in the 2022-23 fiscal year that resulted from significant budget reserves, record-ending fund balances, and excellent liquidity. For the fourth consecutive year, it is likely that the sustained considerable positive increase in the state's GAAP general fund balance will be well received by investors.
