WASHINGTON - It's been eight days and Scott Walker still won't say definitively whether he believes the President loves America and whether he believes the President is a Christian.

Today as he courts media attention at the Conservative Political Action Conference, will Walker finally answer the questions or will he continue to dodge and deflect?

-- Do you believe the President loves America?

-- Do you believe the President is a Christian?

-- Do you believe the President was born in the United States?

-- What newspapers do you read on a daily basis?
