

Veteran's Daughter Slams Sen. Johnson for Exploiting Their Tragedy

Written by Democratic Party of Wisconsin, Harry Hartfield

Thursday, 20 October 2016 10:33 - Last Updated Thursday, 20 October 2016 11:11

Delis family unhappy with Johnson's own failure and his political exploitation of veteran father who died due to negligent VA care.

MADISON - In an explosive interview this morning on WXOW, Candace Delis, whose father died due to negligent VA care, called out Senator Johnson for using her father as a political prop for his reelection bid.

In Friday's WBAY debate, Senator Johnson referenced his work with the Delis family when asked about how he would improve the VA system in Wisconsin. Delis heard her name referenced and decided to speak out: watch it here. Delis detailed how after her father was left dying in a VA waiting room she reached out to Sen Johnson's office for an independent investigation. But Delis says, Johnson refused to take responsibility for his own failures and instead tried to score political points off her father's tragic death. Delis first reported her story to the Associated Press.

You can watch the full WXOW story here or below:

WXOW: Sen. Johnson Didn't Do Enough at Tomah VA

Uploaded on Oct 20, 2016