

Taylor, Erpenbach, Physicians, Patients & Advocates Unveil “Respect Women Act”

Written by State Senate Democrats

Thursday, 12 October 2017 14:09 - Last Updated Thursday, 12 October 2017 14:26

MADISON - State Sen. Jon Erpenbach and Rep. Chris Taylor were joined by the Wisconsin Alliance for Women's Health, members of the medical community, and other organizations that support access to comprehensive reproductive health care to unveil a new package of bills, collectively called the "Respect Women Act."

Respect Women Act bills would ensure that Wisconsin women can make their own reproductive health care decisions free from harassment, intimidation, political interference, or false information.

WHO: State Sen. Jon Erpenbach and Rep. Chris Taylor
Dr. Amanda Schmeihil-Micklos, MD
Allison Blumenfeld, Medical Student
Sara Finger, Executive Director, Wisconsin Alliance for Women's Health

WHEN: Thursday, October 12, 2017 – 10AM

Taylor, Erpenbach, Physicians, Patients & Advocates Unveil “Respect Women Act”

Written by State Senate Democrats

Thursday, 12 October 2017 14:09 - Last Updated Thursday, 12 October 2017 14:26

WHERE: Senate Parlor, State Capitol