

MADISON - After the outrageous decision by the right wing majority on the Wisconsin Supreme Court to lift “Safer at Home,” we noted that there still is another case before the Court on this same issue. And guess what? The lead plaintiff is a major GOP donor, and he maxxed out to Justice Rebecca Bradley, as we explain here:

Conservative Justice Got \$20K Contribution from Individual in Second Stay-at-Home Suit

We were also so disgusted by Chief Justice Roggensack’s “regular people” comment about the meatpackers in Green Bay that we checked out her statement of economic interest to see “regular” she was. Here’s what we found:

Roggensack Has at Least \$295K+ in Investments

By the way, if you want to see financial relationships and how wealthy some of our other state elected officials are, just click here:

Statements of Economic Interests

Our Data Analyst, David Julseth, just posted statements of economic interests filed with the

Wis Democracy Campaign - Supreme Corruption

Written by Wisconsin Democracy Campaign, Matt Rothschild
Friday, 15 May 2020 15:43 -

Wisconsin Ethics Commission as of May 2020. These statements cover calendar year 2019. This is the only place that the public can view them without first submitting a request form to do so!

I hope you find these postings useful.

And I'd love to hear from you, so please email me at rothschild@wisdc.org if you'd like.

Best,

Matt Rothschild
Executive Director
rothschild@wisdc.org

P.S. If you like the work we're doing, please make a tax-deductible gift today to the Wisconsin Democracy Campaign. We'd really appreciate it. Just click here . Thanks!