

DPW Chair: GOP Wants Schools to Do More with Less

Written by Democratic Party of Wisconsin

Tuesday, 02 March 2021 11:55 - Last Updated Wednesday, 03 March 2021 12:02

MADISON —

Democratic Party of Wisconsin

Ben Wikler

Monday

“Our schools are facing more and more challenges, yet Republicans want the hardest-hit schools to make more decisions on their own.”

Then and Now: WI Republican Decisions Making Their Tune On Local

After months of demanding a “regional approach” to managing the COVID-19 pandemic, Wisconsin Republicans have shifted their tune on local decision-making.

- Republicans Insisted For Months That Districts Make Their Own Decisions About In-Person

Scott Fitzgerald, May 2020: “There’s a uniformness in the way that districts are making decisions. It’s not good. It’s not good for a district that has 1,000 kids and Scott Fitzgerald, August 2020: “There’s a number of districts that I think didn’t get it right. They’re not

- Since The Beginning Of The Pandemic, Republicans Have Insisted On A “Regional Approach

Sen. Duey Stroebe, April 2020: “One size fits all does not work.” One-size-fits-all thing was, was a

Assembly Majority Leader Brian Steinhilber, April 2020: “We do think that a regional approach makes Speaker Robin Vos, April 2020: “Sometimes people who live inside a bubble of the capital have

Former JFC Co-Chair John Nygren, May 2020: “DAI was a belief in that [we] should have

Rep. Gundrum On Mask Requirement: “I’ll have a say, and I’ll continue to support local decisions

Rep. Rob Brooks: “Wisconsin does not need a statewide, one-size-fits-all approach to COVID-19.”

DPW Chair: GOP Wants Schools to Do More with Less

Written by Democratic Party of Wisconsin

Tuesday, 02 March 2021 11:55 - Last Updated Wednesday, 03 March 2021 12:02

Speaker Vos On Mask Requirements: "Local Governments Have Been Responding Appropriately"

Sen. Van Wanggaard: "You Can't Legislate Common Sense For That Reason, I Continue To Struggle"

Sen. Chris Kapenga: "[F.A.W.] We Keep Saying, 'A Regional Approach Is Absolutely The Way To Go'