Middleton – In response to Sen. Johnson's lecture today at the Rotary Club of Milwaukee, RFW Communications Director Michael Tyler released the following statement:

"In a single conversation, Sen. Johnson reminded Wisconsinites that on the issues that matter most, he continues to side with the corporate interests and Washington Republicans and refuses to listen to this state's middle class and working families.

"Sen. Johnson praised the disastrous TPP trade deal while blatantly admitting that he won't come clean with his position until after the election. He ducked and dodged his way through every question over his support for Donald Trump. He doubled down on his intention to jeopardize retirement security for Wisconsin's seniors by privatizing Social Security and turning Medicare into a voucher program. And he continued to advocate for another massive, reckless ground invasion in the Middle East.

"Sen. Johnson failed to connect with the people of Wisconsin today. The only thing he accomplished was reminding Wisconsinites that he's all Washington."
