MIDDLETON - Trump's continued attacks on the family of a fallen U.S. soldier, the latest in his pattern of discriminatory and derogatory comments, are an insult to gold star families across the country. Senator Johnson has said that he would pull his support for Donald Trump if he crossed a line. but he continues to support Trump's bid to be our next commander-and-chief.

In response to Johnson's continued support for Trump in the wake of Trump's latest comments, RFW Communications Director, Michael Tyler, released the following statement:

"Our gold star families should be honored, not slandered again and again by Donald Trump. Trump's vicious attacks have no place in our country, yet Senator Johnson continues to support Trump's campaign, and refuses to denounce Trump by name. Enough is enough - it's time for Senator Johnson to do what's right."
