

Sen. Johnson Announces that He Opposes Paid Family Leave

Written by Russ for Wisconsin

Saturday, 15 October 2016 14:12 - Last Updated Tuesday, 18 October 2016 10:03

MIDDLETON, WI - Senator Ron Johnson announced for the first time Friday that despite overwhelming support from Wisconsinites, he opposes paid family leave. Sen. Johnson has been vague about the issue until now. But as usual Senator Johnson sided with big corporations and special interests over working families.

READ IT AND WATCH :

MODERATOR:...Should the U.S. join other developed countries in mandating paid family leave, and, if so, for what length of time?

SENATOR RON JOHNSON:...This would be another federal regulation that increased the cost for employers. It's one of the reasons that wages have stagnated....So, the question I'd ask all Wisconsinites, would you rather have that $12,000 or that $14,800 cost of complying with federal regulations--this would be one of them--feeding a massive, bloated government bureaucracy, or in your paycheck, feeding, providing for your family.

Uploaded on Oct 14, 2016