

Today Is Election Day, So VOTE!!

GREEN BAY - Election Day is today, Tuesday, November 6, 2012, so make sure you vote. As long as you're in line when the polls close tonight, your vote will be counted. We can't afford to let Romney bring back the same bad ideas that crashed our economy. We need to move forward with President Obama.

Yesterday was President Obama's last day on the campaign trail, and it was a nonstop sprint to the finish. Obama supporters aren't resting and neither was the President. He crisscrossed the country asking for every American's vote.

Bruce Springsteen joined him in Madison, Wisconsin, and Columbus, Ohio, where Jay-Z also joined in. Then, the President and the First Lady returned to Iowa, where it all began in the winter of 2007, for one final grassroots rally in Des Moines.

It's more important than ever to vote today and make your voice heard in this election. The 2000 election was decided by just 537 votes, and this year could be even closer and the stakes are higher than ever before.

So make sure you vote

, and that everyone you know does too. Go to

as long as you're in line when the polls close, your vote will be counted

We have come a long way in a few short years. We're out of Iraq, we brought Osama bin Laden to justice, the auto industry is back, "Don't Ask, Don't Tell" is over, we're less dependent on foreign oil and we've created nearly 5.5 million new jobs in the last 32 months. We have more to do, but we're on the right track.

President Obama has a clear, specific plan to build on that progress over the next four years . It'll help create jobs, develop American energy, train the best workforce in the world, reduce the deficit in a balanced way and do some nation-building here at home.
It's a plan that moves us forward, not back.

When you vote, think about which candidate you trust. We can't trust Mitt Romney. He'd take us back to the same bad ideas that got us into this mess, like fewer rules for big banks and more huge tax cuts for the wealthy.

And he's written off 47 percent of the country.

President Obama fights for the entire country

Voting for Barack Obama is a vote for all Americans, not just a lucky few. He's always had our backs, and now its time to have his and help finish what we started in 2008.

We can't afford to go back, and you can't afford to stay home.

Vote today

It's the most American thing you can do, and it's how we keep moving forward.
