The President is instructing his administration to apply similar standards to all federal government contractors and encouraging private sector employers to follow his lead.

WASHINGTON, DC - President Biden on Thursday is directing all federal employees and onsite contractors to show that they are vaccinated or otherwise submit to regular coronavirus testing, a major step that will likely cause other private sector businesses to follow suit.

Biden is also instructing his administration to apply similar standards to all federal government contractors. The White House says it will encourage private sector employers to follow his lead.
