

Jan. 6 committee closes summer with Trump outtake revelations: Five takeaways

Written by The Hill Press
Friday, 22 July 2022 10:42

<http://newiproggressive.com/images/stories/S5/trump-jan6-outtakes1-072122-s450.png>

Raw footage of Trump himself helped make the committee's central case: that Trump incited a mob, loosed them on the Capitol and, even after the results were grimly apparent, just didn't care.

WASHINGTON, DC - The House select committee investigating the Jan. 6, 2021 insurrection held its final hearing — only its second in prime-time — before a summer break on Thursday.

The latest event stretched over almost three hours and featured two key live witnesses, Matthew Pottinger and Sarah Matthews, both of whom resigned from Trump's administration on the day of the riot, as well as a plethora of new details.

Here are five key takeaways.

Read the full story here .