

MADISON - I was impressed with Gov. Evers' move this week, endorsing binding referendums. It's one of the solutions I proposed in my book, "12 Ways to Save Democracy in Wisconsin." As I noted there, and as I note in my posting this week, another progressive Wisconsin governor called for this reform more than 100 years ago:

But I've been disgusted, as I'm sure you have been, too, about the sleazy and racist ads that the GOP and their outside groups have been running against Mandela Barnes. One of the groups is a PAC funded by Diane Hendricks and Richard Uihlein, which adds a layer of corruption on top of the racism, as I explain here:
