"Kevin's in the pocket of an out-of-state billionaire" say WisDems.

MADISON - Today, the first of many third tier candidates announces their candidacy for the GOP nomination for Wisconsin's US Senate seat. Kevin Nicholson, propped up by a super PAC funded by an out of state billionaire, announced his candidacy after months of negative stories about his lies, past, positions, and beliefs.

Democratic Party of Wisconsin Chair Martha Lanning said, "Kevin Nicholson is only out for himself and he's already lied to voters about basic questions on his past – so why would they trust him with their future? Worse, Kevin's in the pocket of an out-of-state billionaire whose money he'll rely on to bankroll his campaign. We can't count on Kevin to be honest or stand up for us."
